Purpose of Submittal:

In this interactive session, Brad Johnson, Provost and Executive Vice President will opine about his first few months in the position, including changes to and challenges of the role. Topics include follow-up listening sessions from the Academic Affairs leadership meeting, advancement targets, retention, structure of the Provost's office, and upcoming plans.

Background:

Provost and Executive Vice President Brad Johnson started on August 1, 2022 and is completing his first full academic quarter in the role.

Strategic Questions:

1. What questions do the Trustees have regarding the Academic Affairs division in general, and the work of the provost in particular?

2. From the perspective of the Board, are there specific components of the role of Provost and Executive Vice President that are impactful in promoting the strategic vision of the university?